Student Motivator Registration Form

The Black Star Project manages one of the largest Student Motivation Programs in the United States. Since 1996, The Black Star Project's motivational speakers have mentored over 100,000 students in more than 200 Chicago public, private, and parochial elementary and high schools. This program serves students of all ethnic, racial and faith backgrounds. Through this program, you can:

- ★ Inspire and motivate students to do well in school
- ★ Expose students to various college and career options
- ★ Encourage students towards healthy and positive lives
- ★ Help students to create viable life plans and make good decisions

The Black Star Project's Student Motivation Program usually visits a member school four times per school year, (every other month), with speakers addressing two or three classes of 6th- through 12th-grade students in groups of 25 to 30 students between 9:00 am and 11:00 am. For high schools, motivators may be asked to begin at 8:30 am. The motivators have backgrounds in business, government, finance, education, construction, medicine, law, engineering, technology, communications and other professions. Motivators speak to students about their jobs, and whether preparation such as college or other training was required to obtain their job. Most importantly, motivators stress what students need to do in school in order to prepare for a successful life in the working world. Additionally, motivators offer students advice on making good decisions about basic life choices.

You will be asked to attend a brief orientation session before volunteering, and you will have the opportunity to attend monthly motivator forums to learn most strategies for improving your presentation.
